PUNSHON'S NEWLY INVENTED PATENT COTTON Gunpowder—American Patent for sale.—This gunpowder is superior to ordinary black gunpowder in very way; it is safer, stronger, cheaper and smekeless.
Its force is so great that it is calculated no iron-clad sing could be built that would withstand the shock of balls driven by cotton gunpowder. Weight for weight it will drive a builtet with double the velocity of black gunpowder. Its gdvantages for mining purposes are also drive a billiet with double the veneral of pages powder. Its advantages for mining purposes are very great. It is stronger and asfer than dynamic litho-fracture and other compounds of nitro-given it has been twee tried, before a commission appeil by the English government and once before a comsioner from the Austrian government. In cach case the inventor showed its superior force over gunpowder. It was also tried before the English public at Wimbledon, where its marked superiority ovar ordinary gunpowder was fully proved. (See English Times newspaper of Issh April, 1872, and other journals of that date.) The inventor and patentee, Mr. Robert Funshou, of No. 4 Queen square, Wostminster, England, is willing to sell the United States patent for cash, or he will join a company to work the invention in the United States, as he wishes to retain an interest in the American works, the same as he has will the present Furopean Company, who are building large works in England.
